Dingmans Employe Dies In Route 209 Accident

A LONE SWEDISH SENTRY stands guard on a bleak road barrier between territory under United Nations Emergency Forces command and the disputed Gaza Strip. In the background are forward Israeli outposts, whicch were withadrwn as Prime Minister David Ben Gurion gave the go-ahead to evacuation of the Gaza and Gulf of Aqaba areas. U. N. troops were ready to move in behind them.

Ben-Gurion Seeks Approval

Opposition Group Touches Off Uproar

JERUSALEM, March 5 (AP) — Under taunts and badgering at an uproarious session tonight, Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion asked Parliament to support his decision to pull Israeli troops out of Egypt and Gaza.

Hecklers drowned out his words at times as he wearily defended his withdrawal decision. He is seeking a vote of confidence.

When Ben-Gurion sat down, the opposition touched off the biggest uproar ever heard in the Israeli Parliament. It took the speaker five minutes to restore order.

Ben-Gurion declared the aim of the October invasion was deliverance of Israel from danger of Arab attack, not conquest. He implied that goal was achieved.

"I am keenly aware of the dangers and drawbacks involved in the settlement we have made," he told Parliament.

Reasoning

While Israel did not receive the U. N. guarantees of security against Arab attack that were demanded, Ben-Gurion said:

"The President of the United States has assumed a moral responsibility toward Israel and many other nations have made statements which involve a moral commitment."

With these assurances of support for maintaining peace in the Middle East, Ben-Gurion said, "I do not hesitate to advise the members of the Knesset (Parliament) and the people of Israel to accept this settlement."

The white-haired old warrior was tired to the point of exhaustion.

Tomorrow he faces the opposition's motion of no-confidence. He is expected to win out.

Three Scranton Labor Union Leaders Plead Innocent To Signal Corps Depot Charges

SCRANTON, March 5 (AP)—Three Scranton labor union leaders today entered pleas of innocent when arraigned before Federal Judge John W. Murphy on charges of extortion and labor racketeering. The defendants, John J. McHugh, Robert K. Malloy and John Durkin, all business agents of Local 229, General Teamsters and Helpers Union, also asked to quash the indictments.

Judge Murphy continued the defendants in bail and fixed no trial date. He granted a defense motion for a period of one week in which to file amendments to the motions to dismiss which were filed earlier today.

The charges were in connection with the construction of the U. S. Signal Corps Depot at Tobyhanna. The three are the first to be arraigned in the case.

Acting U. S. Atty. Robert J. Hourigan said a timetable for the trials will be set up after all 15 defendants have been arraigned, possibly within the next two weeks. The most prominent of those indicted after the nearly year-long investigation of alleged irregularities in the construction of the 33-million-dollar Pocono Mountain depot is U. S. Rep. Green, Democrat from Philadelphia.

Petition

Joseph Brennan, attorney for the three, also petitioned the court to have the indictments dismissed. He contended that publicity given the grand jury investigation deprived the three of their constitutional rights to have the grand jury consider the facts in "a calm and unprejudiced atmosphere."

Brennan also contended the indictments fail to allege facts sufficient to constitute an offense against the government, fail to set forth the proper jurisdiction or venue of the Federal Court, are "so vague, indefinite and uncertain as to time, names or means that they are fatally defective and are contradictory in that they are not understandable."

The attorney also said the defendants had been compelled to testify against themselves and were not advised of their constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination. He added that the statute of limitations barred any indictments.

Judge Murphy gave Brennan an additional week in which to present further motions.

Dulles Calls For Action From Egypt

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles called on Egypt today to stop "dragging its feet" and get the Suez Canal cleared and open—now that Israel is scheduling immediate withdrawal of its troops from Egyptian territory.

Dulles declared the strategic waterway could be opened in 10 days.

Speaking at a news conference, he said arrangements to get ships moving freely through Suez ought to "move forward very quickly" and result in solution of such problems as how to pay canal tolls. He expressed his own hope that the problem will be rapidly resolved as soon as Egypt is satisfied that Israeli withdrawal is actually taking place.

Hunt

Dulles hinted that withholding by the United States of economic and financial aid to Egypt might be used as a lever to get the Suez Canal working again. He said the suspension of aid which took place with the outbreak of fighting last October would not be ended generally but only on a country-by-country basis as conditions return to normal.

In the case of Egypt, he made clear, the restoration of favorable conditions includes getting the canal open.

Economic aid of various kinds was interrupted in the cases of Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Israel. Israel's decision of last weekend to withdraw its troops from territory it seized from Egypt in last fall's fighting was regarded by Dulles as a substantial step toward resoration of aid to that country.

Leader Asks Cut By Fish Commission

HARRISBURG, March 5 (AP) — Gov. Leader today recommended the state Fish Commission cut its spending by nearly 10 per cent with the bulk of the reduction in fish propagation and research.

At the same time he suggested that the Game Commission's program be kept at near the same level for the two-year period beginning June 1—a $34,000 increase to $9,762,000.

The fish budget for the next biennium calls for spending $4,425,000 compared to $4,888,462 in the current two-year fiscal period. The governor's budget proposal made no mention of a possible increase in $2.50 license fee, though the commission has outlined a proposal to double the fee.

Main Reason

The main reason for the reduction is that the commission started the current two-year fiscal period with $1,440,000 in the bank. The cash balance for next June 1 is estimated at only $368,959.

The budget estimates that licenses and fees will bring in $3,826,000 in the next two years compared to $3,412,000 in the current biennium and $3,787,000 in the 1953-55 fiscal period.

Blast Shakes Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, March 5 (AP)—One of the most jarring sonic blasts ever to hit metropolitan Los Angeles today shook an area from the ocean to the San Gabriel Valley, 30 miles inland.

The shock, apparently caused by a jet aircraft that broke through the sound barrier, shook bricks loose from a fireplace in Santa Monica and cracked ceilings of homes in Los Angeles, West Los Angeles and Pasadena. There were numerous reports of smashed windows and cracked plaster.

McCarthy Not Invited

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP) — The White House said tonight Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) is the only member of Congress President and Mrs. Eisenhower did not invite to one of their formal dinners and receptions this year.

Minister Claims Threat

AUGUSTA, Maine, March 5 (AP)—A Protestant minister who criticized efforts by Catholic parents to obtain public bus service for parochial school children said today his wife had received a telephone call threatening the safety of the family.

The Rev. Harvey F. Ammerman of Augusta's Old Parish Congregational church said a man told Mrs. Ammerman, who answered the phone, that her husband "had better lay off and keep his trap shut."

Caller

Rev. Ammerman said the unidentified caller otherwise "wouldn't guarantee the safety of my family."

The clergyman said he was "very willing to discuss the issue intelligently, but when people use such tactics, I'd just as soon pull out."

Leader Urges Retention Of Gasoline Tax

HARRISBURG, March 5 (AP) — Gov. Leader urged the General Assembly today to retain the state's gasoline tax at six cents a gallon permanently to finance the biggest highway expansion program in Pennsylvania's history.

Republicans and Democrats alike agreed the state should do everything necessary to gain the state's full participation in the huge federal highway program. But, otherwise, the reaction by legislators to the governor's proposal was mixed.

Democrats were all for Leader's proposal but Republican reaction ranged from downright opposition to a cautious "show us."

Message

The governor told the lawmakers in a personally delivered message that it would be necessary to make the gasoline tax permanent to finance Pennsylvania's participation in the Federal highway program.

The 1955 Legislature imposed a temporary one-cent tax to pay for repairs to roads and bridges damaged by Hurricane Diane in the eastern area of the state.

The Republican-controlled House has passed a bill to end the temporary levy on June 1,cutting it back to 5 cents a gallon.

"It would be foolhardy, in my judgment, to reduce the existing six-cent tax on a gallon of liquid fuel," Leader told a joint session of the House and Senate.

"We are obviously faced with a flood of highway traffic, which equals in its emergency pressures, the emergency of Hurricane Diane itself. We cannot risk the loss of time and accomplishment which would follow our failure to participate in the fullest in the federal aid program."

Other legislative developments:

Spending Restrictions — Republicans abandoned a plan to make it a crime for a state official to spend more money than appropriated to his agency.

Mahany described it as "too drastic" and said a possible result would have been keeping capable executives out of state government.

He said he would amend his own bill which, as now written, makes overspending a misdemeanor with a maximum penalty of five years in jail and a$10,000 fine.

Grants

Deficiency Grants — House Republicans refused a Democratic administration request to increase a 7¾ million dollar deficiency appropriation for relief by $350,000

The vote was along party lines with the GOP claiming that if the money is actually needed another bill can be passed later.

Budget Requests—The House State Government committee today approved a plan to require the state budget secretary to submit copies of departmental budget requests to the Legislature.

Leader trimmed departmental requests by more than 135 millions but has refused to give the Legislature details of the cuts.

Batt Appointment — The Senate confirmed 47-2 the appointment of William L. Batt Jr., Toledo, Ohio, industrial development expert, as secretary of labor and industry in Leader's Cabinet.

Batt succeeds John R. Torquato, Johnstown, who was fired by the governor in January for his handling of a special fund.

Senate Democrats held up the confirmation previously on grounds the governor should hire a Pennsylvanian for that post.

Passengers Escape Death

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 5 (AP)—A big DC7 airliner cruising at 14,000 feet cast a propeller today, slashing off the cabin top above the heads of 41 passengers.

The pressurized luxury cabin, suddenly an open cockpit, filled with a storm of loose clothing from the overhead racks and feathers from broken pillows. But no one was seriously hurt.

Pilot

The pilot, Capt. L. T. Hansard, 43, Smithfield, Tex., made an emergency landing here seven minutes after the four-bladed prop let go, whacking through the roof "like a bolt of lightning."

There was no panic.

Passengers on the "nonstop" flight from New York to Dallas gave Hansard and his four crew members a heartfelt ovation after the American Airlines plane landed.

Senate Passes Ike's Mid-East Resolution

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—The Senate adopted overwhelmingly tonight a resolution serving notice on Russia the United States will fight, if necessary, to help halt Communist aggression in the Middle East.

The vote was 72-19.

Passage of President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution came at the close of more than two weeks of debate on the proposal which:

Pledges the United States to use its military forces if the President deems it necessary to help any Middle East nation which asks U. S. help in resisting overt armed aggression by the Reds.

Gives the President authority to spend up to $200,000,000, free of most present restrictions, in supplying arms aid and economic assistance to Middle East nations between now and July 1.

Eisenhower asked urgently for the authority in a special message two months ago today. The House gave its approval, 355-61, Jan. 30.

Debate

The Senate has been debating the subject with deliberation.

Ordinarily, the Senate and House versions would be turned over to a conference committee of ferences.

However, there were reports that the House may be inclined to accept the Senate language, without going through the conference committee process.

The basis for these reports was said to be a feeling that there need not be any further consideration, since the administration has approved the essentials of the Senate version.

Secretary of State Dulles added to the likelihood of early, final ment saying "I am delighted" at the Senate's action. Dulles quickly accepted the Senate's version of the resolution.

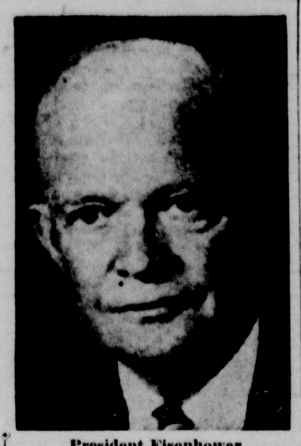

"While further action will be necessary because of variations between the language of the House resolution and that adopted by the Senate, the substance is the same," he said.

Clear

"It is now clear that the Congress of the United States has, by an impressive, nonpartisian majority joined with the President to assure the peoples of the free nations in the Middle East that the United States stands ready to join with them to build up the strength and, if need be, help them defend their national integrity and independence against Communist armed aggression.

"This is a major step and should contribute greatly to peace and security in the area."

In one change voted today, the Senate approved 48-43 an amendment by Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) pledging support of United Nations police forces in the Egypt-Israel area.

Superior Court Orders 23 Involved In Turnpike Case To Post Bail Within Week

SCRANTON, Pa., March 5 (AP)—The state Superior Court today directed 23 persons charged with conspiracy in connection with Pennsylvania Turnpike construction to post bail within seven days, the first step in bringing them to trial.

At the same time, the seven judges postponed until next week in Harrisburg argument by attorneys for 10 of the defendants to dismiss the Dauphin County Grand Jury indictments filed against them.

The "post bail" order, by the entire court, was filed with Prothonotary Charles H. McKibben several hours after the Superior Court had heard argument. Defense attorneys sought dismissal of the Dauphin County Common Pleas Court order directing the posting of bail.

Stayed

The 23 had been ordered to post bail by Feb. 21 but this has been stayed pending Superior Court action, decided today.

The dismissal action brought by the 10 would affect the other 13 defendants.

Bringing today's action were G. Franklin McSorley, Thomas J. Evans, and James F. Torrance, former Turnpike commissioners; John D. Paul and Theodore S. Paul, former engineer and chief legal officer, respectively, for the commission; E. J. Connolly and C. J. Hudert of the Greiner and Co., Baltimore, Md., consulting engineers formerly employed by the commission; and Charles Stickler, president of the Manu Mine Research and Development Co., and Manu-Mine executives Clayton A. Landsidle and Paul J. McNeil.

Gov. Leader charged Manu Mine, which held extensive contracts with the Turnpike Commission, of defrauding the commission of millions of dollars. Manu Mine has denied the charge.

Minister Warns U. N. Of Future

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Israeli Foreign Minister Mrs. Golda Meir warned today Israel will go to war against the Arabs again if necessary for the security of the Israeli people.

In another development on the Middle East question, Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold was reported planning to fly to Cairo and the Gaza Strip early next week. His purpose was said to be to set up the civil administration for Gaza under the U.N. Emergency Force.

Conferences

Hammarskjold conferred with nearly a dozen key delegates as the U.N. Assembly remained in recess to await Israel's withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the Sharm el Sheikh sector of the Gulf of Aqaba. The Assembly may meet Thursday to hear a report from Hammarskjold on the withdrawal.

Mrs. Meir told a luncheon session of the U.N. Correspondents Assn. that Israel took action last fall for the simple purpose of making certain the security of its people. She will return to Israel tomorrow and she said she faced the tragic task of having to tell her people that maybe they better set up the watch towers on the border again.

Mrs. Meir indicated that Israel will not agree to putting units of the U.N. Emergency Force on the Israeli side of the border with Egypt.

Senators Vote With Majority

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP) — Both of Pennsylvania's senators, Republican Edward Martin and Democrat Joseph S. Clark voted with the majority tonight on the Middle East resolution, which passed by a vote of 72-19.

Both voted earlier against an amendment by Sen. Morse (D—Ore).

Good Morning!

The fellow was a good prospect as a son-in-law, so Father was trying to help things along.

"The young man who gets my daughter will get a prize," boasted the proud parent.

The fellow looked at him seriously for a moment: "May I see it?"

Vote Heavy In Irish Election

DUBLIN, Ireland, March 5 (AP)—Eamon de Valera's chances of a political comeback in the Irish Republic he helped create grew tonight. There was a larger-than-expected turnout of voters in the national election.

The 74-year-old New York-born Irish patriot smiled confidently after casting his vote in the election for a new 147-member Dail (Parliament) which will name the new prime minister—a job he held for 18 years.

Clearing weather after a morning drizzle stepped up the pace of voting. Even before the normal last hour rush, there were indications of at least a 70 per cent vote.

Personalities

The election was held amid widespread unemployment and economic distress, and rousing cries for reviving the fight against Britain to bring the six counties of Northern Ireland into the Irish Republic. The voting was peaceful.

The election centered largely on personalities. Both the major parties—De Valera's Fianna Fail (Men of Destiny) and the Fine Gael led by Prime Minister John Costello—are basically conservative.

The results probably will not be known before Thursday.

School Bus Bill Postponed

HARRISBURG, March 5 (AP) — The Senate tonight postponed final action on companion bills that would authorize the use of school buses to transport children to and from extracurricular activities.

"We asked to hold up action on this bill until we can find out more definitely just what extracurricular activities would be included in the measure," said Sen. Seyler (D—York).

Mrs. Meyner Ill

PHILLIPSBURG, N.J., March 5 (AP)—Gov. Meyner's mother, Mrs. Sophia Meyner, 75, was admitted to Warren Hospital today for "medical observation."

Lenten Meditation

By Rev. John A. Bollier
First Presbyterian Church of Stroudsburg

AT THE BEGINNING of the Lenten Season, we turn our attention anew to the central event in our Christian Faith, the death of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. That Jesus so intended His death to be of supreme importance is evident from His words, "The Son of man also came not to be served but to serve, and to give His life as a ransom for many."—(Mark 10:45. R. S. V.)

Sin, which is simply man's rebellion against God and the worship of himself rather than God, has always been the root of man's problem. For when a man is alienated from God because of his sin, he finds himself also alienated from his fellows. Thus, sin manifests itself in the various sins of individuals and nations, such as immorality, jealousy, anger, strife, selfishness, dissension and drunkedness.

Jesus Christ died to atone for our sins and the sin of the whole world and so reconcile us to God and to one another. Let us now and always repent of our offenses of thought, word and deed and by faith in Christ receive the forgiveness which our loving Heavenly Father freely offers us.

Passengers Suffer Only Minor Injuries

BUSHKILL— A Dingmans Ferry resort employe was killed last night when his car swung out of control on Route 209, overturned, skidded on its top into a pasture beside the road and came to rest on its side.

Dead on arrival at General Hospital of Monroe County was Norman W. Ebinger, 53, social director at Honeymoon Haven. Ebinger was known by his familiar nickname, "The Major", to hundreds of Monroe County residents.

Four passengers in his car suffered only minor injuries. State police at the Milford sub-station reported.

Police said the accident occurred at about 5:30 p.m. but they were not called until 6. It happened three miles north of Bushkill near Egypt Mills, in Pike County. It, therefore, does not raise the total number of traffic fatalities thus far this year in Monroe. That total now stands at 11.

Driving North

Police said Ebinger was driving north. They said he apparently ran off the highway, lost control of his car and then tried to swing back onto the road.

In so doing, the car swerved, turned over and skidded for some distance flat on its roof, until it came to rest on its side next to a tree in a pasture off the highway.

General Hospital ambulance was called to the scene. Pike County coroner J. S. Bullock was notified, police said, but by that time the Monroe County ambulance was "already on its way."

Ambulance officials loaded Ebinger into the vehicle and raced back to the hospital. At General, Monroe County Coroner Dr. Charles H. Rushmore pronounced Ebinger "dead on arrival". He placed the time of death at "about 6:45 p.m."

Passengers in the car, according to police, were the following:

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sullivan, 244 E. 48th St., Brooklyn, N.Y., sitting in the back seat. Sullivan sustained an ankle sprain and his wife suffered bruises of the back and left lower leg.

Mr. and Mrs. George Donnarumma, 370 Woodland Ave., Jersey City, N. J., who were sitting in the front seat with Ebinger. Donnarumma had minor head and leg injuries; his wife sustained a sprained left ankle, body bruises and glass cuts in her eyes.

All four of the injured were treated at General Hospital dispensary and released.

Dr. Rushmore said last night that Ebinger died as a result of skull and neck fractures.

Parents

Ebinger was the son of the late Louis and May Alexander Ebinger of Philadelphia. He had been a resident of Monroe and Pike counties for the past 12 years. Prior to that he had lived in Philadelphia.

He had been social director at Honeymoon Haven the past three years. Before that he held similar positions at Winona Falls Lodge and Blue Ridge Inn.

He was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and was a social member of the Marshalls Creek Fire Co. and the Dingmans Ferry Fire Co.

For 10 years he served as a pilot for the United States Air Mail Service. During that time he was nicknamed "The Major." The title continued to hold after he retired from duty as an active pilot.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Frank Ball, Collingswood, N.J. and a brother, William Ebinger, Philadelphia.

Funeral services will be announced by the Lanterman Funeral Home.

Father Of Mary Jane Barker Accepts Death Of Four-Year-Old Child As Accidental

BELLMAWR, N. J., March 5 (AP)—The grieving father of Mary Jane Barker has accepted the four-year-old child's death as an accident, his brother-in-law said today.

Thomas J. Fallon, a Camden attorney, said the police conclusions reached in the case yesterday had been passed on to the Barker family which has remained secluded since the child's body was found late Sunday.

Investigators said that unless the analyses of final specimens from the girl show reason for suspicion, or unless some new evidence came to light, they would stick with the finding that death was caused by malnutrition and exposure without foul play.

The girl's body was found in a closet of an unoccupied house just two blocks from her own home. She disappeared the morning of Feb. 25.

Muhlenberg Medical Center

Sketch Of Medical Center Made Public

THE ARCHITECT'S sketch of the first hospital for the chronically ill in the Lehigh Valley was released yesterday by Henry L. Snyder, President of the Muhlenberg Medical Center.

The plans call for two buildings, each with a bed capacity of 100. One of the units will be part of the immediate six and one half million dollar project which will also include a General Hospital and Chapel. The other chronic unit will be added at an early date. The long range Medical Center program will include a school of nursing, homes for graduate and student nurses and a professional building. The building in the foreground is the chapel and a portion of the general service wing may be seen at the right.

The proximity of the chronic unit to the general hospital meets today's highest standards in the care of the chronically ill as it assures patients the advantage of all the hospital's facilities and the best possible care by the medical staff while they are, at the same time, occupying low cost beds.

The need for hospital facilities for the chronically ill in the lower Lehigh Valley has been apparent for some time and is becoming steadily more critical. A recent survey indicates that, at this time, there is no special provision in our general hospitals for the chronically ill although at least 175 beds, vitally needed for the acutely ill, are now occupied by chronically ill patients.

While meeting only a part of this need, the new chronic unit of the Muhlenberg Medical Centre is a long step forward in assuring adequate hospital facilities for the long-term ill. Long range plans also call for the construction of additional chronic units as well as cottage colony for the aged. The new medical center will be located on a 40 acre site on Schoenersville Road, near Route 22 Thurway, in Northwest Bethlehem. A fund-raising campaign to secure a portion of the funds necessary is presently in the planning stage.

Council Postpones Action On Project

Attorneys To Discuss Contract Terms

By Leonard Randolph

EAST STROUDSBURG Council last night postponed action on a preliminary-phase flood control contract with the Department of Forests and Waters to allow their solicitor to confer with counsel for Stroudsburg.

On recommendation of its solicitor, Charles R. Bensinger, the group agreed to delay approval of the agreement so Bensinger could discuss phases of the contract with George Robinson, Stroudsburg solicitor.

Under terms of the contract submitted, as interpreted by the attorney, the borough would be made liable, in effect, for damages caused during actual construction of the Department's proposed $1 million-plus flood control project along Brodheads Creek.

The current contract actually covers only the "test boring" phase of the control project. But Council noted that if the language of the agreement has as its intent the placement of all liability in event of damage on the borough as "sponsor" of the project, then a thorough study should be made now.

Agreement

Under the agreement, the borough secures right-of-way and easements for the project and, in the years following completion of the project, would assume responsibility for maintenance of dikes, levees or channels constructed.

Council members noted that this might amount to a "considerable sum of money over the years". Burgess Jesse S. Flory commented, also, that "apparently the borough would be liable for almost any damages incident to the construction job being done."

The group praised work being done by the Department of Forests and Waters; called the project a badly-needed one and said that it should be expedited as quickly as possible. But Council still felt that a study of the legal technicalities of the agreement should be made by local counsel.

Council gave its approval to taxation for the coming fiscal year. It set its millage rate at 19 mills—17 for general purposes and two for councilmanic debts—and levied the same $5 per capita tax it had on the books during the past fiscal year.

Council voted to provide licenses to churches and charitable organizations which serve food on their premises without charge. These organizations must be licensed under a new ruling handed down by the State Department of Health.

A contract with Metropolitan Edison Co. to provide street lighting in a specified zone was approved. Included was a provision for four new street lights.

153 Attend Meeting Of Teachers

POCONO MANOR — One of the largest crowds in history, 153, attended the Monroe County Branch of the Pennsylvania State Education Assn. meeting here at the Inn last night.

Feature of the program was an address made by Dr. Fred Hipp, executive secretary of the New Jersey Teachers Assn. Dr. Hipp spoke on "Problems New Jersey Encountered During Integration of Teachers Pension Plan with Social Security."

Problems

During his talk Dr. Hipp explained the many problems involved in making the move. He explained the great amount of research work necessary and illustrated the manner in which thhe plan operates and its benefits.

Glen Wallingford, president of the organization, presided over a short business meeting, at which routine matters were transacted.

Perry Bean, head of Physical Education Student Teachers at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, spoke briefly and gave a preview of the next meeting. The next session will be held at the college on April 24, at which an official of the National Education Assn. will speak.

Complaints Received On Sidewalks

COUNCILMEN in East Stroudsburg voted last night to crack down on cracked sidewalks.

Herman Smeltz, council member, said he had received numerous complaints from pedestrians that they had stumbled and fallen on bad walks in the borough.

Smeltz said something must be done. Other councilmen agreed. After some discussion of particularly bad sidewalks in several neighborhoods (mainly the main part of town), they decided to:

Survey

Conduct another survey to find the worst spots.

Confine the survey, at first, to the Washington-Courtland-Crystal St. area.

Revise or amend the borough ordinance controlling construction of sidewalks so that residents and property owners may use "hot patch" blacktop surfacing instead of concrete.

Burgess Jesse Flory and Council President Roy Lloyd said that the survey should be started immediately. But both men said that a "follow up" system should be initiated, also, to make sure work is done when it is recommended.

Civil Defense Brings Ton Of Medical Supplies To Area

MORE THAN A TON of medical supplies, materials and equipment were brought to Monroe County last night and stored in the Stroudsburg VFW Home for use in the event of an enemy attack or natural disaster.

Gerard Willem van Loon

Drama Critic To Speak At Dutch Treat

"I'M THE MOST one-track person I've ever met. Just put me down as a theater maniac" says Gerard Willem van Loon in summing up his career as dancer, actor, songwriter, playwright and drama critic. It is this singleness of purpose that has so well equipped van Loon to tell the average layman of the thousand and one fascinating "plays within plays" which go on behind the magic curtains of the stage. Fortunately too he "likes to talk" and will speak tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. at the Penn Stroud Hotel.

From his earliest youth as a student at the great Max Reinhardt's Seminar in Vienna to his important position in post-war Germany, where he was responsible for the reforming and reconstruction of Bavaria's theaters, van Loon's line has been dedicated to the theater.

After winding up his fifth and final year of army service as Theatre Control Officer for Bavaria, van Loon put his Captaincy on the Organized Reserve list and his writing talents and theatrical acumen at the disposal of one of our major television dramatic programs.

Long Pond Man Honored

LONG POND — Weather observer Thomas Meckes, of Long Pond, was presented with a bronze medal by the U. S. Weather Bureau in recognition of 10 years service with the department.

Meckes, who files weather data with the bureau's Records Processing Center at Chattanooga, Tenn., also supplies special reports to the weather station at the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport.

Paul M. Crawn, county executive director for Civil Defense, said the items were made available to the county by the State and Federal Civil Defense organizations. The supplies will remain the property of C. D. and released for use whenever and wherever the council may direct.

Included in the supplies are 400 waterproof field blankets, 10 combination cot-and-litters, 48 blood transfusion sets, bandages and dressings of all types, anti-biotics and drugs, surgical instruments, and related equipment and supplies, Crawn said.

Trucking

The items were brought here from Indiantown Gap by John R. Lesoine, transportation chief for the county C. D., who furnished the use of a truck without charge, Crawn said.

Frank Weller, an officer of the VFW, and his son, Frank Weller Jr., C. D. zone director for Stroud Township, headed the negotiations for storing the supplies at the post home.

Crawn reported the medical supplies will be available for use at principal first aid stations at fixed or temporary facilities where most casualties will receive their first medical treatment. They will be administered under the direction of doctors, nurses and other professionally trained personnel.

All stockpile items are specially packed for long-time storage and immediate emergency transportation. Supplies which deteriorate with age will be replenished as the occasion demands, the Civil Defense executive said.

Republicans Propose Terms

HARRISBURG, March 5 (AP) — The Republican leaders of the General Assmbly proposed jail sentences today for state officials who spend more than their budget allocations without specific authority.

Industrial Club Hears About Safety

AN EXECUTIVE of the Hercules Powder Co., Wilmington, Del., addressed the Industrial Management Club of Monroe County at the Penn-Stroud Hotel last night.

The speaker was Thomas E. Miller, manager of Hercules' powder division, who said his major duty was to prevent accidents among children who find powder caps and then try to discharge them.

Accidents of this type, especially among the 12-year-old group, increased in 1955, Miller said, but the number dropped last year as the result of an educational program carried out with the aid of schools, Boy and Girl Scouts, 4-H Clubs, Future Farmers, YMCA and other groups.

Explanation

Miller explained that many of the caps are stolen from barns, sheds, quarries, mines and industries, and he said everyone who uses caps in his work has a responsibility to the community to see that they do not fall into children's hands.

Roger Capwell was the program chairman. President William Gorton called attention to the trip the club members will take to the Martins Creek plant of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. on March 23. The tour will last from 10:30 a.m. to noon.

Capwell conducted a Chinese auction at which $38 was realized for the YMCA Camp Fund.

After the meeting, the members were shown a vise invented by Gus K. Focke, East Stroudsburg RD 3. This vise has a handle on the side and when pushed down, it locks the material between the tooth-edged jaws.

Election of officers will take place at the April meeting.

Commissioners Praised For Agreeing To Put Assessments On Equal Basis

Monroe County's three-man Board of Commissioners acted wisely Monday by agreeing to support assessment of properties at one-third of market value.

The long-awaited step had the strong backing of school directors throughout the county and was taken, the commissioners said, "because we want to help in any way we can to get school buildings constructed wherever it's possible."

The school districts are faced with building problems, and are unable to proceed very far because of low and frequently unequal assessments. They are governed in the amount and extent of bond issues they may float by the size of their assessed value.

A three-member committee of the Monroe County Board of School Directors, which met Monday with the commissioners and obtained their promise of cooperation, interpreted the commissioners' action as meaning that local assessors now may begin revision of assessments upwards in their own districts.

It's not so vital that the commissioners agreed upon the one-third figure as recommended by the school directors. What is more important at this time is the fact that the same level of assessments will prevail in all sections of the county instead of the crazy-quilt pattern that has been followed in the past.

The commissioners took the right course, we feel, by seeking assurance from the school boards that millage rates will be adjusted if assessments are raised. This would prevent out-of-line increases in the tax load for property owners.

While the re-alignment of assessments would not affect this year's taxes, it could be accomplished for 1958 and carry through until the county's tax equalization program is put into operation.

Congratulations are due Commissioners John R. Lesoine, Willard Quick and W. Adolph Rake and the school directors, Harry J. Drennan, Dr. Evan C. Reese and Clyde Dietrick, for getting together and mapping what appears to be a reasonable solution to the present crisis which faces the school districts.

We are confident their agreement will not only allow for early and definite planning of badly needed school buildings, but will also get the county's tax equalization program off to a good start.

State Needs Six-Cent Gasoline Tax To Pay Costs Of Huge Highway Construction Proggram

Gov. George M. Leader called yesterday for a continuance of the emergency one-cent tax on gasoline to guarantee the Commonwealth's participation in the federal highway program.

The levy was enacted after the 1955 flood to finance reconstruction of highways and bridges that had been destroyed in Northeastern Pennsylvania. It is due to expire May 31.

Action has already been taken in the House to permit the tax to die on schedule, but the representatives have expressed a willingness to continue it if the Leader Administration proves the extra money is needed.

Figures previously announced by the state show definitely that the funds are required to help pay the state's share.

To qualify for the federal allotments during the first three years—1957 through 1959—Pennsylvania must put up $148,390,000 of its own funds. The Federal Government's share would be $383,200,000.

Under the federal interstate road program, the state would pay 10 per cent, or $26,090,000 of the $260,090,000 cost.

The federal and state governments would share equally in the primary and secondary highway programs, which are estimated to cost $244,600,000 through 1959. The federal allotment for the primary system is $46,300,000 for 5,673 miles of roads, and for the secondary system, $76,000,000 for 13,270 miles.

Gov. Leader maintains that if the gasoline tax is allowed to revert to five cents per gallon, which was the level before the flood, the motor fund will have insufficient revenues to underwrite the added burden of the gigantic federal-state highway program.

We doubt that anyone will disagree with the Governor's observation. The only question that arises is, do we want these new highways? The answer definitely is yes, because there is a very obvious need for more highways, wider highways and safer highways to handle the increasing flow of traffic.

We recommend retention of the one-cent tax as a guarantee that the state will participate fully in the highway program.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Would Russian Power Extend To Elbe If Brooke's Invasion Plan Had Been Tried?

It will always be an arguable point whether General George Marshall's cross-Channel invasion was a correct move in World War II or whether the British strategy devised by General Brooke, subsequently Field Marshal Viscounte Alanbrooke, to go into Europe through the Mediterranean was not more correct. At any rate, had Brooke's ideas prevailed, the world would probably not today be faced by the extension of Russian power to the Elbe.

Viscount Alanbrooke's war diaries have been put together in a book, "The Turn of the Tide," by Arthur Bryant. What interests an American most in this lengthy and rather hard to read but historic invaluable tome is the everlasting difficulties between the British and American points of view and what the professional soldiers thought of each other.

Viscount Alanbrooke was the British Chief of Staff, the opposite number to General George Marshall and actually, at one time, it was expected that he would be in charge of the Western Front, but because of the preponderance of American troops and supplies, that position was given to Marshall of whom the British did not have too high an opinion as a strategist. At one point, Viscount Alanbrooke wrote:

"When arguing with Marshall I could never get him fully to appreciate the very close connection that existed between the various German fronts. For him they might have been separate wars, a Russian war on the one side, a Mediterranean war on another and a cross-Channel one to be started as soon as possible.

"I have often wondered since the war how different matters might have been if I had had MacArthur instead of Marshall to deal with. From everything I saw of him I put him down as the geratest general of the last war. He certainly showed a far greater strategic grasp than Marshall.

"I must, however, confess that Winston was no great help in the handling of Marshall, in fact the reverse. Marshall had a holy fear of Winston's Balkan and Dardanelles ventures, and was always guarding against these dangers even when they did not exist."

This tribute to General MacArthur from the top British general in the war comes as a surprise because most of General MacArthur's friends have believed that it was the British who made all the trouble for him in Japan and in Korea. So little of the documentation of the war is yet available that we hardly know what happened. As each memoir and diary is published, a little more is added. The Alanbrooke book causes one to wonder how the war was fought and won.

Marshall ultimately won the day and his ideas prevailed. Also the war was won. Hitler committed suicide and Germany was partitioned. But a closer analysis of the facts as viewed in the year 1957, must be convincing that the benefits of the war went to Russia and that from 1945 until today, there has been no peace in the world.

Nothing in this book indicates that the British strategy was based on a fear of Soviet Russia and the Communist Revolution. It is apparent that while the British military thought that they knew best how to fight the war, they also had little enough respect for the American command. In one place, Alanbrooke wrote in his diary:

". . . I liked what I saw of Marshall, a pleasant and easy man to get on with, rather overfilled with his own importance. But I should not put him down as a great man."

Curiously, Marshall had about the same opinion of Alanbrooke and it must have been something of a chore for Winston Churchill to keep these men in harness, as they had to be. This Alanbrooke comment is most interesting:

"After lunch I had Marshall for nearly two hours in my office explaining to him our dispositions. He is, I should think, a good general at raising armies and at providing the necessary link between the military and political worlds, but his strategical ability does not impress me at all. In fact, in many respects he is a very dangerous man whilst being a very charming one . . . But . . . his plan does not go beyond just landing on the far coast . . . I asked him this afternoon—Do we go West, South or East after landing? He had not begun to think of it."

The book is an eye-opener.

Letters To The Editor

The Daily Record welcomes Letters to The Editor. The subjects discussed and the opinions expressed are strictly those of the writer and not necessarily the opinions of this newspaper. All Letters to The Editor must be signed with a bona fide address given. Such signatures and addresses will be withheld if the writer desires.

Mr. John Hill, Editor
The Daily Record
Stroudsburg, Pa.
Dear Sir:

The purpose of this letter is to thank you, your entire editorial staff and photographer, for the fine cooperation you extended our Publicity Chairman during our Heart Fund Drive in February.

It takes things like a fund-raising campaign for a person to realize just what a wonderful efficent newspaper we have in Monroe County. The Daily Record is sympathetic, cooperative, and eager to do more than their share in every drive, not only the Heart Fund.

And while we're giving credit where credit is due, we can't forget the fact that we had a top-notch Publicity Chairman in Mrs. Richard Fredenberg, who saw to it that pictures, and necessary material were in your hands far enough in advance so that they could be used to the maximum effort. The coordination was marvelous.

May we also pay tribute to our local Radio Station, WVPO. Not to mention over 400 volunteers who were "on the firing line" on Heart Monday, February 25th, and the countless chairmen of committees: Girl Scouts, Brownies, and well, we could go on, and on, and on . . .

Last, but by no means least, a very sincere "thank you" to the residents of Monroe County, who gave to "HEART" with all their hearts.

For the Monroe County Heart Committee, I am,
Gratefully,
Albert E. DeRenzis
Campaign Chairman

Wife's Recipe To Cure Husband Of His Snoring

Reluctance and loyalty are, I believe, the two reasons for our being plagued with one of the worst of minor irritations — snoring spouses. (You, dear? Goodness no. But Jane said her husband snores to wake the dead . . .) Penicillin and the sulfas have all but blotted out more serious scourges, but oh Lordy, why those scientists don't get cracking on the nocturnal warblers I can't think! (Gee honey, not you—but Elmira vows she hasn't slept minus ear-plugs for 15 years . . .)

Snoring is such a family matter, it's difficult to produce impartial witnesses. Some of the worst snoring offenders (so they tell me) don't even admit the error of their ways. "Why, you just imagine it!" And being such sensitive creatures, husbands are shielded by loyal wives from the dire truth. They snore to beat the band.

Only when Pop goes off to a sales convention, sharing a room with Joe Parks from Akron, does he get the straight facts. Joe tells him plainly, "Man, do you snore!" Either separate rooms are immediately forthcoming, or Joe takes the precaution of getting to sleep first. Then it's Pop's hour of suffering—Joe snores like a Bach Fugue with a few Scarlatti runs to make it wilder.

If a poll (secret) were taken of wives on the question of would they like a personal, private, separate and distinct bedroom—with their beloved ensconced at the opposite end of the house—I fear the results would be a thundering Yay. "And make his bedroom soundproof," many would add.

Such expansive quarters being clearly uneconomic and impolitic, the same ratio of wives would honestly admit they prefer twin beds very close together. The trumpeting snorer must be kept within easy striking—that is, reaching distance. Otherwise the temptation to use a hardier weapon than one's elbow might be irresistible.

One desparate lady, throwing loyalties to the four winds, confides that she has found the perfect antidote for her breezy spouse. She had, with the subversive cunning of a spy, tried every means on the market of keeping her breadwinner's snores to a minimum. Even had the dentist make up a special mouthpiece fitting like a third set of teeth. Nothing happened. The noise got even worse and once her nocturnal saxophonist almost choked on the waxworks.

Clothespins affixed to his slumbering nose, handkerchiefs stuffed in his mouth, high pillows, low pillows, electric alarms to wake him—all for naught.

She had tried shouting, screaming, nagging, begging, weeping, even sleeping on the divan herself.

Now she has the cure—whispering. When beginneth the steamboat - locomotive - wounded-coyote cacophony, my friend says she leans over the symphonic sleeper, whispering in his ear, "Stop snoring, dear." And he does.

You're welcome, don't mention it. Particularly to my own lord and master. You know how it is.

Try and Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

The Course of True Justice took an odd twist in an Illinois courtroom some time ago. A slick young lawyer assured the judge, "It wasn't really my client who ransacked the home of the plaintiff. He noted that a window was wide open, and merely inserted his arm—and removed a few inconsequential nick-knacks. Now you will admit that my client's arm is not technically himself. Why punish all of him for an indiscretion committed by only one of his limbs?"

The judge thought that one over for a moment, then decreed, "An ingenious defense — and following it logically, I sentence this defendant's arm to one year in jail. He may accompany the arm or not, as he chooses."

The laughter of the courtroom attendants was checked abruptly when the defendant calmly removed his artificial arm, put it down on the judge's bench and walked out.

In Austria, a 20-year-old donkey, now retired to pasture, smokes an average of 20 cigarets a day. The critter's probably just too stubborn to give up the habit.

Robert S. Allen Reports

Small Hydrogen Weapon May Be Fired In Nevada

Washington, March 5 — Atomic history is in the making in the new series of tests on the great firing range in southern Nevada.

For the first time a "small" hydrogen weapon may be exploded.

There has never been a thermonuclear test in the U. S. Heretofore all such experiments have taken place at the proving grounds around Eniwetok in the South Pacific. But this time a "small" hydrogen weapon may be detonated in Nevada.

This has not yet been finally decided on.

Representative James Patterson (R., Conn.), member of the Joint Atomic Committee, in apprizing colleagues of this significant development, explains that certain key factors are still under consideration. The outcome of these studies will determine what is done about a thermonuclear "shot".

Related directly to this eventful decision is another test which has been definitely scheduled.

It is the try-out of a new type survival shelter.

This civil defense facility is slated to be subjected to one and possibly several atomic tests. Whether it also undergoes a hydrogen explosion depends on the decision regarding a thermonuclear weapons test.

The result of these experiments will importantly affect the Administration's position on that multi-billion dollar shelter-building program vigorously advocated by Civil Defense authorities. A major obstacle to this project has been sharp controversy over the effectiveness of such shelters.

Depending on atmospheric conditions, the new series of tests will start late this month and continue into May.

The "shots" will be both ground and aerial. The latter will include an airborne innovation. Atomic weapons, carried aloft in balloons, will be exploded at upwards of 10,000 feet.

This has never been done before. Previously atomic bombs have been dropped from planes.

New Defense Cutback — The Joint Atomic Committee has made a disconcerting discovery.

Work has been drastically reduced on the development of a highly promising atomic-powered rocket.

There has been no public hint of this action. The Committee still has to learn who ordered it and why. So far the Committee has established that the Budget Bureau secretly impounded most of the funds Congress voted for this vital defense project last year.

Yet to be ascertained is whether the Bureau did this at the behest of Defense Secretary Wilson, Atomic Commission Chairman Lewis Strauss, or the White House.

Apparently also involved in the matter is an equally secret big cut in the new budget for the atomic plane project. This development has been underway for a number of years, at a cost of some $400,000,000 to the Air Force and Atomic Commission. Over the protests of scientists and other authorities, Secretary Wilson made a deep cut in new funds for this momentous effort.

The Joint Committee is investigating both cutbacks. A number of officials already have been interrogated at private sessions.

Most of the information uncovered in this testimony is classified. But the following significant highlights can be reported:

Work on the atomic-powered rocket has been halted completely at the University of California's Livermore Laboratory, San Francisco.

This activity has been greatly curtailed at the Atomic Commission's Los Alamos Laboratory in New Mexico.

These secret shutdowns were ordered despite a report by a Special Committee on Nuclear Rocket Propulsion strongly recommending this project be pushed with vigor.

The special Pentagon committee was set up by Secretary Wilson himself for the express purpose of studying this matter. Heading the group, made up of scientists and weapons experts, is General Herbert B. Loper, Assistant Defense Secretary for Atomic Energy.

The committee's report is highly confidential. It can be disclosed that the scientists and military leaders agreed on both the feasibility of an atomic-powered rocket, and on the advisability of pressing its development on a priority basis.

They strongly stressed the point that a small amount of atomic "fuel" could lift a lot of weight indefinitely, thus overcoming one of the most difficult rocket problems — the weight of the chemicals and other fuels used to propel conventional missiles. That's why they have to operate in several or more stages.

The special Pentagon committee pointed out that atomic rocket flights could be made in one stage as the fuel supply would be "unlimited".

The Joint Congressional Committee has been told this report was submitted to Eger V. Murphree, named last year by Secretary Wilson as missile "czar", but that he has largely disregarded it. Murphree has been described to Joint Committeemen as "hostile" to both the atomic-powered plane and rocket.

Old Cars Take Over For Day

Folks living in Stroud Township, or out Snydersville and Saylorsburg way may relax—it really is 1957.

There may have been some doubt in the minds of area residents on Saturday as they watched a 1917 Ford and a 1923 Dodge roll by their homes.

The cars actually belonged to Douglas Greene, 1827 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, and John Harl, Stroud Township along Route 611, respectively.

The ancient machines, with not so ancient drivers, were part of an Automobiles of Yester-Year Parade in Allentown Saturday afternoon.

Greene and Harl are real experts at this hobby.

A Business Of Your Own

Timberland Waste Yields Fortune For Opportunist

Until recently, nobody thought there was much money to be made from cut-over timberlands; you simply had to wait until the trees grew again. By applying technological methods to the forest's leavings, however, James M. Brown Jr., 41, of Sandpoint, Idaho, has built a profitable business from just such forest land.

While "salvage logging" is now becoming standard practice, particularly for the big lumber companies, Brown was one of the first to grasp the opportunity, and he has developed his Pack River Tree Farm Products (1955 sales: $12 million) into a notably efficient operation.

Brown had worked for his father's Long Lake Lumber Co. during college vacations before he started on his own in 1939. With a $560 loan on his car he bought equipment to recover sunken logs from Pen Oreille Lake in northern Idaho.

The forests of the lake region had been cut over years before and the deadheads left as worthless. Brown hauled them out of the lake, sold his first lumber for $156. The next year he sold $76,000 worth of lumber cut from the sunken logs.

Since then he has painstakingly put together his successful lumber business. He bought timberland from which big operators had cut the white pine and left behind the "unprofitable" spruce, cedar, larch, and Douglas fir.

Engelmann spruce, in particular, was considered unmarketable, but Jim Brown cut the spruce and staged a promotional campaign that established it as acceptable lumber. He bought up old mills and put them together much as a boy would build a car from pieces picked up in junkyards.

After ten years of makeshift operation he was able to install modern equipment in the Pack River mills. In the meantime he had acquired five other mills, by making small down payments and paying off as he sold his umber.

In 1949 Brown and his brother Larry formed Pack River Tree Farm Products to handle sales and coordinate the operations of the mills. In its first year it grossed $3,300,000, netted $150,000 after taxes. In 1955 the gross was $12 million, net over $500,000.

Last spring, after five years of technical and market research, Brown opened a $1-million plant for making Tenex, the "woodiest" brand, he says of all board processed from waste-wood particles.

Today Brown, who likes to lie late in bed eating a tuna-fish sandwich for breakfast while conducting his business over the telephone, is head of seven companies that own modern mills and equipment, the waste-wood processing plant, and 55,000 acres of timberland in Idaho, Montana, Washington, and British Columbia.

Much of it is cutover land that had been "worked out," all of it is productively worked and managed under a scientific long-range program of conservation and reforestation. Says Brown, "I want this business here for my children and my children's children."

Eat Your Troubles Away!

Food Should Set Budget Pace

By Lelord Kordel
Installment Three

FOOD SHOULD be the first item in the family budget—not rent, not new automobiles, not television, not household appliances. Food should be budgeted, not according to the popular tastes of the family, but according to the nutrients the family needs to keep it in good health.

Dr. C. W. Cavanaugh of Cornell University confirmed what I had been teaching for years when he said, "The fact is, there is only one major disease, and that is malnutrition."

Why should malnutrition haunt us in a land where we enjoy the highest standard of living ever devised by man? On the surface, it seems ridiculous.

Primitive peoples were not plagued with malnutrition. They had no cancer, ulcers, high blood pressure, heart and kidney diseases, tuberculosis, polio, multiple sclerosis, muscular dystrophy, or cerebral palsy. They had no physicians, surgeons, or psychiatrists.

Resources Used Widely

Primitive peoples are close to the soil and with an uncanny instinct choose from it the edibles that promote their health. Though ignorant of the science of nutrition, they use their more limited natural resources intelligently. Our pioneer forefathers never felt want for meat and protein because of the wild game and fish they found in bounteous supply.

Processed foods are replacing our outmoded customs of home baking, home preservation of fruits and vegetables, and home butchering. In many cases, they even replace the cooking. They offer the services of pre-preparation and pre-cooking. But do they replace the nutrients? Generally, they do not.

How can you secure your "essentials of nutrition" in an age of processed foods? By putting first things first—where they belong. Which means that foods rich in essential proteins should come first on your list.

Protein is a must in every person's diet, regardless of age. The word protein means "holding first place"! And first place in the diet is exactly where protein foods belong.

Handy Eating Guide

Here is a little "shopping guide" to help you remember the principal high-protein foods:

1. Living tissue — meat, fowl, fish.
   (This would include the glandular meats such as liver, heart, kidneys, brain, tripe, sweetbreads, etc. In fact, these should be used with great frequency, not only because of the variety they will bring to your meals, but because they are kinder to your food budget than steaks, chops, roasts.)
2. Eggs and milk products.
   (This category of foods, intended by Nature to nourish newborn life, would include all cheeses, all type of milk, not overlooking yogurt, buttermilk, etc.)
3. Seeds of plants in their natural state: seed grains, nuts, legumes.
   (This would include such high-protein seed foods as millet, sunflower seeds, sesame seeds, soybeans, lentils, whole grains, beans and peas in moderation, and nuts—of which almonds are without doubt the highest in protein values.)

Every twenty-four hours, a healthy person must have four to six ounces of protein-rich food as an absolute minimum in order to avoid the serious consequences of protein deficiency. The demand for protein the sick, ailing and convalescent body is, of course, greatly increased over this minimum figure.

You cannot fool your body. Whenever it does not receive the body-building proteins from meat, fish, eggs, cheese, milk, or seed cereals, it cannot replace the dead cells. Thus you accelerate your body's ageing and make it vulnerable to any disease germ that comes your way.

Body Protests

The sad part about a protein deficiency is that it can be concealed for a long time by overeating of starches and sugars. However, the day must inevitably arrive when the body begins to voice its protest against a scarcity of protein in the diet. And that protest takes the form of degenerating tissues and poorly functioning organs. In other words, the protest makes itself known as disease.

Proteins are not expensive. You can be healthy on a smaller budget. I have seen people who spend as much for sugar, salt, processed crunchy, crackly cereals, bakery products, candy, liquor, and tobacco as they do for foods that are absolute health necessities.

The neglected organ meats — kidneys, brains, heart, tripe, sweetbreads, tongue, chicken giblets, ets.— actually supply you with more valuable vitamins than lean meats. In any case, the protein values remain about the same. And for anyone who loves good food they offer free rein to the culinary imagination.

Cheaper cuts of meat can be made tender and palatable by cooking slowly at low temperatures.

Do you commit that cardinal sin of the modern kitchen of throwing your meat and vegetable broths away? Not only are you depriving yourself of good soup material, but you are throwing away most of the vitamins and minerals that came in the vegetables.

Real Nutrition Bargain

The wise homemaker studies her newspaper for food bargains. Right now powdered skim milk is the biggest food bargain of all. You can slice your milk bill to a third with powdered skim milk as well as supplementing your diet with the valuable proteins and vitamins and minerals found in this wonderful food.

From the standpoint of economy and convenience alone, housewives tell me they would not be without skim milk powder after once using it. Yet economy and convenience are but two of the advantages gained by the advent of this new dry skim milk.

A teaspoonful of skim milk powder thoroughly mixed into the beaten egg makes wonderful scrambled eggs for breakfast, an excellent high-protein dish with which to start off the day. At lunch, dry skim milk can be added to soups. At dinner, the fruit pudding or egg custard served for dessert should contain a tablespoonful or more of dry skim milk in addition to the liquid milk specified in the recipe.

Extra Juicy Hamburgers

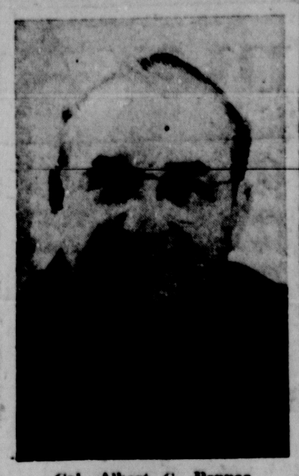

If you want an extra-juicy, extra-plump, and extra-rich broiled hamburger soon, just add a couple of tablespoons of skim milk powder to the mixture.

For about 30 cents a day you can

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. B-444

DESIGN B 444. A small plan, designed for a narrow lot, built with a full basement for storage, laundry and recreation. Plumbing is concentrated to serve the bathroom, kitchen and laundry. A separate vestibule has coat closet and storage closet. The kitchen boasts general eating space, large closet and direct entry to basement.

A different exterior look has been achieved by continuing the eave around the house, over the front entry and corner picture window with a planter beneath. Wide horizontal siding and asphalt shingles complete the picture. Floor area is 864 square feet, cubage is 16,416 cubic feet.

Shellac, Varnish, Stain Save Unnecessary Labor

ALL TRAFFIC into or out of a room must, of necessity, pass across the doorsills. If the doorway is much used, the sills and adjacent floor area soon become worn and unsightly. When the grain of the wood is directly exposed, dirt finds lodgment in it and even the hardest scrubbing fails to clean the surface thoroughly.

When the old coating wears thin, a touch-up of the same type of material used on the rest of the floor's surface—shellac, varnish, paint, or penetrating stain—will save you much unnecessary work.

A smoothly finished surface can be kept spotlessly clean with very little effort.

Life Becomes Easier In Nurseries

LIFE IS becoming pleasant and efficient in the nursery, where modern gadgets and plastic fabrics combine to make life easier for mother and baby.

Even if baby is too young to appreciate the nursery rhyme pictures on the wall or Alice-in-Wonderland night light in his little room, he has a pleasant place to live. Modern bassinets are built for comfort. Some cradles are completely closed-in with window panes, so a doting mother can check on her little tot without disturbing him. Blankets and garments filled with a man made fiber are available for children who are allergic to wool. One manufacturer has made blankets, buntings and sleeping bags out of this material.

New mattresses are decorated for the amusement of baby while mother is changing his bed linen. These crib mattresses resemble enlarged nursery books with illustrations of frogs or elves or teddy bears. Nurseryland characters surround baby to catch his eye on that first day of recognition.

Retouch Furniture

TO RETOUCH damaged furniture with paint or enamel, use an ordinary cotton swab which you probably have in your medicine cabinet. The swab will apply the paint or enamel in tiny areas. Because you can discard it after use, you will avoid the trouble of cleaning brushes after performing this chore.

Automatic Regulator

AN AUTOMATIC draft regulator installed in the smoke pipe between heater and chimney will allow the fire to burn at a steady rate regardless of variations in the chimney draft.

Corn Planted In June Grows Best

SO YOU'RE going to raise corn? Then grow some healthy, tender ears instead of scrawny stalks that can be used for Halloween decoration and little else.

An ancient legend says June-planted corn is the sweetest. Whether or not that is so is a question, but there is little doubt that corn sown in June grows faster than any other and produces unusually good crops, for uncertain weather is over and the ground is mellow and easily workable.

Dig Deeply

Dig the soil deeply and pulverize it finely. Spade in plenty of fertilizer or complete plant food. Corn is an avid feeder and rapid growth will yield biggest and earliest ears.

Use one quart of seed for 200 hills, two and one-half feet apart. For better-filled ears, plant in squares instead of rows. The reason: Pollen will get the freest possible distribution—no matter which way the wind blows, pollen will be blown throughout the patch. Every silk must have pollen to produce a kernel.

Sow every 10 days in June for a good succession. Early varieties are ready for the table in eight or nine weeks from seed; late varieties in about three months.

Shut-Off Valves On Radiator

AUTOMATIC shut-off valves can be installed on any radiator or convector, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau. Automatic valves assure positive, uniform control of temperature at all times—in one room or an entire building.

They eliminate the discomfort of too much or too little heat, and thus reduce heating costs.

Clean Tileboard

TILEBOARD should be cleaned with warm water and a mild soap. Don't use harsh cleaning fluids or powders as these will dull the finish. Coating the surface with wax improves its appearance and makes cleaning easier.

Change In Popularity

THE CARMINE-petaled American Beauty rose, once one of the best-known varities, has now been replaced in popularity by newer varieties. The American Beauty was introduced into America in 1886, from France where it originated in 1875.

Keep Flowers In Proportion

A FLOWER border is almost certain to be in proportion if the height of the tallest plant does not exceed three-fourths of the width. In a border four feet wide, no perennial should grow more than two and one-half or three feet tall.

And when it is in full bloom, the perennial should not take up more than a foot to fifteen inches of ground-level space.

Matching Roofs

MANY FARMERS who take pride in the appearance of their farms have re-roofed their barns, livestock sheds and other buildings with asphalt shingles in a color to match the roofs of their homes. The matching roofs help give the buildings unity, keeping them from looking scattered.

Care For Tools

AN EASY WAY to care for garden tools after you've finished using them is to remove dirt and oil the tools in one operation, with the help of a pail of clean dry sand mixed with a little lubricating oil.

Earliest Harvest Of Spring Garden Is Green Onions

ONE OF THE EARLIEST harvests of the spring garden is green onions. Three weeks after onion sets are planted, they can be served in a green salad.

That compares to about two months to grow green onions from seed. Onion sets are an artificial product. The first onion sets, according to garden writers, appeared at the top of a seed stalk.

Only a few varieties of onions produce these top sets, but apparently some gardener way back in history saw how much faster they developed than seed and started the planting of onion sets.

Sow Thickly

To produce bottom sets, onion seeds are sown thickly and the plants are not thinned out. They become too crowded to develop normally. When the small bulbs mature, they are dried and stored over winter, to be planted again in the spring.

To grow large onions, use the smallest sets, planted an inch deep. To grow spring onions, select the larger sets and place them two to three inches deep. The smaller sets do not make seed stalks, but devote their energy to maturing a bulb, which will keep well in storage. The larger sets send up an edible stalk in quick time. The deeper they are planted, the longer will be the stalk.

Tests Made On Asphalt

SCIENTISTS AT THE National Bureau of Standards have subjected asphalt roofing to 20 years of harsh "weathering" in little more than 10 months.

The tests were made in a device called an "accelerated durability" machine, which poured concentrated light, heat, and "rain" on the shingles to test their durability.

The machine—one of a number used by the scientists in their constant search to find better materials to make better homes—is a large rotating drum.

Inner Sides

The roofing material was attached to the inner sides of the drum, which was then rotated constantly through 22 hour - long cycles a day. Each cycle consisted of 51 minutes of ultraviolet light for heat and "sunlight" and nine minutes of light accompanied by a cold-water spray of "rain."

After tests ranging up to 300 days, the research team made their data available to roofing manufacturers for use in maintaining the high quality of asphalt shingles

Numbers In Fertilizers

THE LISTING of commercial fertilizers with such numbers as 4-12-4, 6-8-6 or others represent the percentages of nitrogen, phosphoric acid, and potash. Nitrogen stimulates growth, phosphoric acid increases stem growth, and potash is essential in the production of high grade fruits.

Applications should be kept from foliage to avoid burning.

Clear Colors Bring Gaiety

LIGHT PASTELS or vibrant clear colors will bring gaiety and freshness to any dark closet. For an accented color scheme in a closet, paint walls and ceiling one color, shelves a contrasting color.

If paper is used on closet walls, shelves can be painted a harmonizing color, such as the background color of the paper. This same color trick can be used effectively in kitchen cabinets and cupboards.

Dog Thefts Common In Monroe County

MRS. ELLEN Albenzi, president of the Monroe County SPCA, said yesterday the recent theft of six dogs from the SPCA shelter off Foxtown Hill is but one of a series of such occurrences reported here.

For some time, she explained, animals have been disappearing from the streets of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg. They include dogs bearing license tags, she added.

This is neither a new nor an unusual procedure but follows a definite pattern which has been a problem in many cities and towns throughout the country, the SPCA officer said.

The local society, Mrs. Albenzi reported, believes the animals are being stolen for sale to a laboratory for experimental purposes.

Careful

The SPCA pointed out that even though this may happen to only unwanted animals it contributes nothing to medical science because reputable laboratories usually do not care to use for experimentation animals of unknown history or those which have been exposed to or recovered from disease.

Several of the dogs stolen from the local shelter were privately owned pets and a reward is being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the party responsible for the theft. State and local police are investigating.

In the meantime, Mrs. Albenzi said, the SPCA urges everyone to keep a close watch on their pets.

C. D. Hopes To Store Hospital At College

CIVIL DEFENSE officials announced last night that negotiations have been started with local college authorities for stockpiling of equipment to set up a 200-bed emergency hospital.

C.D. hopes to store the two box-car loads of equipment at the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, Executive Director Paul M. Crawn reported.

The emergency, or improvised, hospitals are special units temporarily set up for operation in the immediate vicinity of stricken communities. They are designed to provide emergency surgical and other major forms of life-saving treatment at the earliest possible moment, said Crawn.

According to present Federal C.D. plans, a large percentage of these will take the form of uniformly equipped, 200-bed units patterned after the 60-bed mobile Army Surgical Hospital which was widely used in the Korean War.

275 Items

Numbered among the items in each unit are 275 permanent and expendable items of equipment and supply, according to Crawn.

These include operating tables and lights, three portable x-ray machines, sterilizers, folding cots, surgical instruments, bandages and dressings, antiseptics and antibiotics, pillows, sheets and blankets.

Also included are emergency power generators, together with water pump, tank and purifier system for use where public utility service is disrupted or not readily available.

Each hospital will be manned by personnel consisting of approximately 10 physicians, roughly 20 graduate nurses, some 10 technicians and probably more than 100 trained auxiliaries, such as nurses' aides. These usually will have to be assisted by 50 to 100 added, non-medical workers responsible for clerical, feeding and other support activities, Civil Defense reported.

Ash Wednesday Opens Season Of Lent Throughout World

By Leonard Randolph

NOW IN THE CIRCLE of God's time we have come to the Day of Ashes.

Out of all the yearning of Man's life; out of his grief; out of his love and tentative unrest, this day evolves in sunlight and long shadows to show us the horizon of the world we walk within.

On this first of 40 days, each man becomes a part of all men, truly, for he is changed and torn by all that alters or tears at other men.

Once, in a wilderness, Christ wandered. The desolate dust beneath his feet clung to Him as men whose hands were later to plead for Him. The thorns struck out at Him and tore His flesh, just as the hands of men were later to clay at Him.

Christ died. Along the paths of suffering and death, He left an agony of beauty and charity and hope.

For Man, this time begins again, today.

Some years have passed since men bore their mark of dark, ashen remembrance and wrapped themselves in sackcloth for all other men to see.

Now—only the ashes remain.

Yet, on this day, ashes can join us all together, one to the other, just as we are joined in spirit by one love, one hope, one destiny.

For some, it is alien to pride to believe that Man is dust. Yet is there any greater thing than this—the dust of the earth, the glint of the sun in a speck of dust, the whirling exuberance of dust on the plains, the hills, swirling into the smallest crevice of Man's conscience?

Yesterday a newborn baby died. An old man was buried.

And these were quiet things. As quiet as the dust, as transient as the ashes of this day.

"Dust thou art . . ."

Today there will be more to Life because it must be an impermanent thing.

Take this dust and shape it to the image of eternal being, make it the shining reflection of all that there shall ever be.

Live in the ashes of your being as Christ lived in the dust of your own temporary earth.

Return to the core of this ashen sheath in Love and in your own humility.

Now in the circle and the fulness of God's time, Ash Wednesday has come—and with it, all that lies beyond ashes, after dust, is in the meaning of this time.

Visiting Nurse Needs Aired In Bangor

BANGOR — Needs of the community, especially as regards visiting nurse service, were discussed at the meeting of the Bangor Welfare Board in the municipal building Monday night.

Mrs. John Buzzard, president, noted that there are 20 to 30 cases in the borough each week which require visiting nurse service. Inasmuch as the 1957 drive failed to provide adequate funds for full-time service, the board has taken an active interest in this undertaking and discussed at great length ways and means to help the cause. Suggestions from local citizens will be welcomed.

Treasurer

Willis O. Gardner was elected treasurer. This office was previously combined with that of the secretary. George Remagen will continue in the latter capacity. Dr. Trever Williams and Mrs. John Linaberry were appointed auditors.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. John Buzzard, William Anderson, Raymond Kneebone, Mrs. Linaberry, Dr. Williams, Mrs. Claire Piergallini and Gardner.

Miss Arasim is five feet, four inches tall, weighs 120 pounds and is 19 years old. She has blonde hair.

Pat is very much interested in teaching school and enjoys cooking as a hobby. She finds time after her college duties to take part in the Newman Club and is an active member of the entertainment council.

State Officer Attends Local AAUW Play

One of the guests at the meeting of the American Association of University Women on Monday night at the Stroud Community House was Mrs. John Werthan, state chairman of creative arts for the State AAUW.

She had been invited by the president, Mrs. Charles Albert, in order to see the production of the drama group of the local branch, do their study from "St. Joan" under the direction of Mrs. Harold Flagler. The production, Mrs. Werthan said, was an excellent example of what AAUW groups should be doing in the realm of creative arts. She also inspected the display arranged by Mrs. Robert Hartman, chairman of the creative art groups, of cards and painting created by the group this winter.

Mrs. Hartman announced that on March 11, the group would meet at the home of Mrs. Wendell Wicks when Mrs. Helen Thorn would speak on "Medieval Art of Painting."

During the business meeting, the branch endorsed the nomination of one of its members, Dr. Nina Mae Price, for the Distinguished Daughter of Pennsylvania Award.

Mrs. Elton Dening was chairman of the hostess committee which served refreshments following the meeting. Mrs. Hartman and Mrs. Robert Haigh presided at the tea table.

Attendance Tickets Success At Mission S. S.

As an incentive, when an attendance record is broken they plan to break a real record over somebody's head. John Neipert will be the victim this coming Sunday. The Sunday school held at 2 each Sunday is open to everyone.

During the meeting, supplies were ordered and plans made for a variety program on Easter. Each teacher will provide a treat for his own class.

During the social hour, Mrs. Nora Bradshaw was honored at an early birthday celebration when she received two cakes and gifts. Present were Mildred Kintner, Gladys Marsh, Pierre Lake and daughter, Joan, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pooley, Mr. and Mrs. John Neipert and daughters, Susanne and Dorothy and Bertha Taffinger.

Aid Society Wed.

The Ladies Aid Society of Grace Lutheran Church will hold a potluck dinner at noon on Wednesday with the business meeting to follow at 2 p.m.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Speaking of mass impulses—was there anything yesterday that reminded you of kites? Oh, it was a beautiful day but there wasn't any wind particularly — nothing to remind you of sailing and soaring. But that's because we're grown up, I guess.

The youngsters felt it, whatever it was, that tells them that this is the time to fly kites. Practically every other child was headed for home with a tightly furled wand of red or blue in one hand and a ball of kite string in the other.

I can imagine the after-dinner scenes in many a home, where they were painstakingly fitting them together—and the tearful moments when the main stick broke, or the dog ran over the kite and ripped the paper.

Fortunately kites are one of the few things that don't seem to have felt the inflation, and an extra trip to the store for a new kite isn't half as tiring as a trip for a loaf of bread.

However, flat kites still need tails and its awfully hard to tell how heavy to make a kite tail when the kite is grounded in the living room. Which is why I'm a box-kite man myself.

I can't say I exactly regret the fact that I didn't feel the urge to buy a kite. I remember too many frustrated hours when the wind was too slight or too strong—or if it should be just right too many erratic currents that sent new kites straight into the tallest tree.

But seeing the youngsters going home with their kites, and remembering to look up into the orchard where, sure enough, faded bits of string and paper still dangle from lo how many Springs ago, I still get a little homesick feeling, don't you? You may no longer hunger for penny candy, either, but still regret that your mouth no longer waters at the sight of licorice shoestrings.

Jilda Rovito Is Married At St. Luke's

Miss Jilda Louise Rovito, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Rovito, of 222 Lee Ave., Stroudsburg, became the bride of Patrick Guerro, son of Mr. and Mrs. William V. Guerro, of Lehigh Ave., Wind Gap, on Saturday morning, March 2 at 11 a.m. at St. Luke's Catholic Church, Stroudsburg.

It was fashioned with a v-neckline, a fitted bodice of rose point lace, and a three-tiered skirt with pleated flounces. A crown of seed pearls and sequins, held her finger-tip veil and she carried white orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

Nick Ceasarre of Newburg was best man and Victor Zucal, Wind Gap, was usher.

The bride's mother wore powder blue chiffon with a blue hat and shoes, and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a light blue princess style dress with a white hat and a corsage of orchids.

Leaving for their two weeks wedding trip to Florida, the bride wore a wool suit of copenhagen blue with white accessories and an orchid corsage. On their return they will make their home at Wind Gap, RD 1.

Mrs. Jeanette Raughley was presented as CD school administrator for Lehman township. Mrs. Raughley spoke briefly and told the membership that drills were being held during school sessions in training the children in CD activities in the event of an atomic disaster. She instructed parents that they should not become alarmed by reports of these drills since CD activities are being conducted in schools throughout the nation. Two basic instructions were related to parents: 1) that parents should not call the school in the event of a disaster since if the phones were in operation this would be the only means of communication for the teachers and CD personnel; and 2) that parents should not come to the school until notified by CD personnel that the all clear signal had been given for the locality.

In conjunction with CD education in the township the P. T. A. will invite Joseph Kovarick and Dr. F. W. Shafer to speak on the atom and the field of radiation. This meeting will be advertised as soon as necessary arrangements have been made. CD director for Lehman Township, G. THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Round and About, At Wyckoff's: Kathryn Long of our dress department, holding forth on the miraculous features of the $25,000 dream house Harvey Huffman opened at Birch Acres for public display. "It has an all Frigidaire laundry and kitchen," she related, "and is positively out of this world. What a house for the money!" If I hadn't been sold by the earlier description, that word "Frigidaire" would have done it! . . . A new collection of flower earrings at 1.00 in our jewelry department, is so realistic looking you'd almost swear they're made of real petals . . . Sally Ferrebee of "Woman's World" stops to chat in the Cardcade, and invites me to talk book on her radio program some morning. A good idea, but honestly, Sally, would either one of us be able to get a word in edgewise, d'ya s'pose? . . . Those adorable coordinates on display at the top of the stairway in our sportswear department—my favorite having a pink figured skirt with the imprinted words, "Modern Rose", and selling for 10.98, complete with blouse . . . George and Blanche Mackey and Freida Manze home from a weekend at State College where they saw the Mackey's pride and joy, Bruce, play a leading role in the comedy "One's a Crowd" Bruce who is headed for a career as an actor, has the best wishes of all our Wyckoff Store family, and we hope for his sake he has just half the ham in his makeup that makes Blannie such a popular clown . . . the new shipment of Little Lady cosmetics just arrived in our Wyckoff cosmetics department. A favorite 2.00 party gift is the Cookies 'n Milk box that contains bath soap in the shape of cookies and bubble bath in a milk bottle . . . What a surprise, turning a corner thinking that the voice I heard was Holt Wyckoff's, and walking smack into a Viewmaster salesmen instead! . . . For the boy (from six to sixty) who has trouble training his hair, Pearl Walters and Esther Ainspac are recommending a new hairdress called Young Lad. It assures greaseless neatness all day, according to the manufacturer, and is priced at just 60c . . . Stopping in the cosmetic department to chat, I spray myself liberally with what I think to be Flambeau. "That was the wrong bottle," Pearl says., "That's Woodhue". And she is right—so now I'm wearing a combination of both. But how could she tell? To me, one fragrance is much like another, and unless I have the name in front of me, I can't tell "Tabu" from "Chanel Number 5", or Yardley's "Old English Lavendar" from "Danger" . . . Incidentally, "Intoxication" was given a quite unexpected plug on Jack Benny's General Electric Show Sunday night—head-spinning recognition for a perfume guaranteed to KO the most level-headed male . . . Fran Meredith, of our display department, press-agenting the H. I. Phillips column from the Daily Record in which modern art was lampooned. "I'm keeping this and having some fun with my modernist pals," says Fran, as he folds the clipping and tucks it into his pocket . . . Cuter than Christmas, sprightlier than the Easter bunny, and just plain wonderful at 2.98, are the Cindy Collins blouses of polished cotton in Bea Gorgy's department. They are blue or black, with a combination of open and solid dots in white, and a demure round collar tied with a wide satin bow. Try these if you're gravitatin' toward the captivatin' . . . Seldom has our store family been so deeply shocked as by the unexpected death of A. Roe Bush. He had been a Wyckoff employee for a good many years, and while we had known he was not in the best of health, we were surely not prepared for this. Heartfelt sympathy goes to his wife, Ruth, and daughter . . . Those of us who found Jim Bishop's book, "The Day Lincoln Was Shot", interesting, are delighted that McCall's is serializing his wonderful new story, "The Day Christ D'ed." The McCall's layout is dignified and impressive; the illustrations beautiful. Read it, and be an actual spectator at the crucifixion—a suitable experience this Lent.

ESSTC Quintet Faces 'Hot' Kings Here Today

OFF THE RECORD

Swimming Wrestling Tennis Football Basketball Baseball

By Bob Clark
Sports Editor

TODAY at 8:30 p.m. in East Stroudsburg State Teachers College gymnasium area basketball fans will get the opportunity to eye one of the most prolific scorers in the East in the person of King's College's Joe Wallace.

Wallace is captain and the school's record holder in points scored with more than 500 markers and an average of 32 points per game.

With the raves coming out of Wilkes-Barre and vicinity it seems almost a sure bet that Wallace will make one of the 15 spots on the All-Pennsylvania Collegiate team.

Wallace, small in stature as basketball players go—5-11—is a jump shot artist and has uncanny ability from the foul line. His highest single game output this year was 47 against Yeshiva and in one tussle he poured in 19 straight shots from the charity toss line.

It will be interesting to note what happens when the Warriors of Jim Reed attempt to tie Wallace in knots, especially since the Monarchs, as a team, have run up a 15-4 record behind his great shooting.

In a game earlier in the year when ESSTC was far from a firecracker, the Monarchs dumped the Warriors in Wilkes-Barre. In this one, Wallace canned 41.

Wallace, who is fourth in the nation in scoring among small college fives, might meet his match today when Reed's "Rocking Chair" offense settles back into its defense.

Pocono Twp. High, a five which captured the championship in the Monroe Scholastic League will be represented materially, but not officially, in the Junior Gold Medal Tournament in the Stroudsburg YMCA.

Tournament regulations which allow intact Class C varsity teams will enable Paul Frailey, Dick Starner, Ron Martinell, Norb Vishnesky and Burdette Prechatka to play as one unit in the Ray Davies-guided classic.

On this basis, Pocono will be one of the favorites in the eight-team field.

Buck's Soda Mart, another Gold Medal entry, has signed up Doug Shook and Bob Adelmann from Stroudsburg High. (Class A schools are only allowed two members of the varsity five to participate on one team).

Tournament deadline for filing application is today at 11 p. m. At this writing only one opening is left.

Baseball is really in the air, East Stroudsburg State Teachers, Bangor and East Stroudsburg High have started preliminary workouts on the inside, preparing for big schedules this spring.

United States Olympic officials say that the Yank team has to fortify its gymnastic aggregation if it is to meet the foreign nations on even par in the 1960 Games.

If so, and they must be right because statistics bear them out in the '56 classic, then they could probably use some of the stars of the East Stroudsburg STC team, which is one of the few really better-organized units in the U. S.

Folks here may see what the Olympic officials miss when the ESSTC gym exhibitionists perform in the "Hill" arena Friday night.

Tony Gilpin, the Varsity "S" show producer in the wintertime, can't wait for baseball to get under way, especially Little League ball.

Tony, the man who didn't force Rudyard Kipling to write "Drummer Boy", has been a manager and follower of LL since the sport got under way in the Stroudsburgs.

Gilpin claims he has retired officially from a coaching and managing role. But we'd bet if a little force was put on the exbeater of the snares, he'd be back in harness before Gene Krupa could complete a solo.

Courtney Signs

ORLANDO, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Catcher Clint Courtney erased the Washington Senators' holdout list today by coming to trerms with club President Calvin Griffith for a reported $16,500. Courtney had talked previously of heading back to his Louisiana ranch if he couldn't get something like $19,500.

Lafayette MA's Choice For NCAA

SWARTHMORE, Pa., March 5 (AP)—Lafayette today was chosen to represent the Middle Atlantic Conference in the major college NCAA Basketball Tournament.

Bill Stetson, Swarthmore College, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Middle Atlantic Conference, said Lafayette was selected because of its better overall record, conference record and team strength.

22-3 Season

The Leopards under youthful coach Bill Davidson won 22 and lost 3 this season and had a 16-1 mark in the MAC.

Only two teams were considered Lafayette and Temple University.

Paepke Named 'D' Pilot Of Jamestown

PITTSBURGH, March 5 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today announced selection of Jack Paepke, 34, catcher, to manage their Jamestown, N. Y., farm club in the Class D New York-Pennsylvania League.

It will be Paepke's fourth managerial assignment. His Kingston, N. C., team finished seventh last year in the Carolina League, but he had piloted pennant winners in 1953 and 1954 at Brunswick, Ga., in the Georgia-Florida League and Waco, Tex., in the Big State League.

Pro Since 1941

A native of Provo, Utah, he has played organized ball since 1041, with time out for military service during World War II. His playing assignments have included Montreal, Fort Worth, St. Paul, Hollywood and New Orleans. Paepke lives in Whittier, Calif.

'Wonder Horse' Is Dead At 34

ARDMORE, Okla., March 5 (AP)—Ole Buck, the Palomino show horse known nationally as "Buck, the Wonder Horse," is dead at the age of 34.

The animal died Sunday night and a burial and funeral service was held for the horse that played every major rodeo and stock show in the country in the 1930s and 1940s.

He was owned by Hardy Murphy, who said today that a memorial is being planned for the Palomino here.

Ole Buck probably can be remembered for his windup to every performance—his interpretation of the painting that showed the indian slumped over his horse—"The End of the Trail."

Racing Top Pro Spectator Sport

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Racing was the leading professional spectator sport for the fifth straight year in 1956 when attendance at thoroughbred and harness tracks reached an all-time high, a survey disclosed today.

Publishers of The Morning Telegraph and Daily Racing Form, said thoroughbred racing pulled 32,104,373 through the turnstiles and harness racing had 19,533,133 for a combined attendance of 51,637,506. This was an increase of 1,164,104 over the 1955 figure.

$50,000 Pool In NBA Runoff

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP) — The National Basketball Assn., playoff pool has been increased to $50,000 this year with $10,000 going to the winning team, President Maurice Podoloff said today.

The playoffs begin March 16 with the top three teams in each division participating.

Arizin Nears His 2nd NBA Individual Scoring Crown

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—With only eight days of the regular season remaining, Paul Arizin of the Philadelphia Warriors has his second National Basketball Assn. individual scoring championship virtually wrapped up.

The jump shot specialist, who won the title in the 1951-1952 campaign, scored 107 points in four games last week and lifted his total for the year to 1,693.

Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawksmanaged only 16 points in five games while playing with his fractured left arm in a cast. He has a runnerup figure of 1,667 points.

Arizin, 27, an outstanding college star at Villanova, is averaging 25.7 points a game with six more contests left on the Warriors' schedule. Pettit, with five games remaining before the season closes on March 13, is averaging 25.3 points.

Jackson State Pulls Out Of NCAA Play

JACKSON, Miss., March 5 (AP)—Jackson State College for Negroes abruptly pulled out of the NCAA Small College Basketball Tournament today, four days before it was scheduled to play a white team.

Dr. Jacob L. Reddix, president of the state-supported school, said he was withdrawing the powerful quintet after state authorities advised that their policy is against play "under the present conditions."

Qualified

Jackson State, which had a 22-won 2-lost record during the regular season, defeated Philander Smith, a Negro team from Little Midwest regional play last Saturday night. The Jackson school qualified for the NCAA by winning the championship of its own Negro circuit, the Midwest Athletic Conference.

They were to have played this Saturday night in South Dakota, against either Monmouth, Ill., South Dakota University or South Dakota State—all of them white schools.

Mississippi has no state law against inter-racial athletics. But the Board of Trustees of Institutions of Higher Learning, commonly called the College Board, has made clear that such play is against their "policy."

Bell Fires Back At Pro Critics

PHILADELPHIA, March 5 (AP)—Bert Bell today fired back at congressional critics of professional football, declaring National Football League players have the best contract in sports history.

"We bind our players to a one year contract with a one year option to renew and not for life as they do in some sports," Bell said.

"Our players are in a great bargaining position. We have to pay at least 33 per cent of the drafted college players a bonus to sign."

Davies Resigns At Gettysburg

GETTYSBURG, Pa., March 5 (AP)—Bob Davies today resigned as head basketball coach at Gettysburg College, effective at the end of the current school term.

Davies, former pro star with the Rochester Royals and All-America at Seton Hall University, resigned to accept a position with the Converse Rubber Co., Chicago.

Tony DeMarco, Boardman Set For March 30

BOSTON, March 5 (AP)—Tony DeMarco, the top contender for the welterweight title, and Larry Boardman, third-ranked challenger for the lightweight championship, today were signed for a 10-round bout March 30 at the Boston Garden.

DeMarco, the former welter champ from Boston, and Boardman, a youngster who rose from obscurity in Boston rings, signed contracts at a luncheon given by Promoter John Buckley of the Sharkey A. A.

To Fight at 146

Weeks of dickering were ended when DeMarco agreed to come in at 146 pounds and received in turn a guarantee of a rematch within 90 days in the event of a Boardman victory. DeMarco will forfeit $2,000 if he scales over 146.

Each fighter will receive 27½ per cent of the "net" gate receipts. There will be no television or radio.

Close Chase Seen By Lemon

TUCSON, Ariz., March 5 (AP)—Bob Lemon, 36, of the Cleveland Indians believes this season will be the toughest in years for any American League pitcher to win 20 games.

"The race is going to be closer," the big righthander predicted today. "Detroit and Boston are better. So are other clubs. You aren't going to see two or three teams get fa rahead of the rest. This year it will be dog eat dog."

The fact he can become the third pitcher in American League history to be a 20-game winner eight times doesn't seem to make any difference to Lemon. Only Walter Johnson and Bob Grove have done it.

Aims For Flag

"This is just another year," Lemon said. "It's nice to have records. I like them as much as the next person, but the main thing is the pennant. That's what we're aiming at. . . . "

Rigney Sees Antonelli Headed For 25-30 Wins

By JERRY LISKA

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 5 (AP)—Although uncoiling his talented left arm for a second-division club, John August Antonelli this year figures to be a 20-game winner for the third time in four New York Giant seasons.

Giant Manager Bill Rigney today said his ace hurler may even be headed for a 25 or better victory year, although Rigney may have his problems trying to improve the Giants' sixth place finish in 1956.

Antonelli, erstwhile $65,000 bonus signee of the old Boston Braves in 1948, last year had a 20-13 record, after finishing 14-16 in 1955, and 21-7 in the Giants' pennant-winning year of 1954.

Headed For Peak

Rigney said Antonelli, who turns 27 on April 19, still is heading for a pitching peak.

"There is no reason Johnny can't hit 25 or 30 victories in a season. He needs the right breaks, of course. He can't struggle along with only one, two or three Giant runs a game. Not when he figures to run into the opposition's top pitcher in each series.

"But he is moving the ball over the plate better than ever before. He can shoot it inside, outside, high or low almost at will now. Johnny is a good fielder. They're not going to dribble him out of a game. And he is a pretty fair hitter. He can help his own cause at the plate."

Aims For 20

The congenial Antonelli sizes up his own prospects more modestly.

"When you talk about 25 or 30 victories, you are saying a mouthful," said Johnny. "I think any pitcher sets his sights on 20 wins and hopes for the best. Anyway, that'd what I'm going to do again. . . ."

Friend Tosses One Inning, Proves To Self He's Okay

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Bob Friend, Pittsburgh Pirate pitching ace, hurled one inning of baseball yesterday and said it was enough to prove to himself that he's going to be all right this season.

Friend said he had been worrier because his arm began to bother him toward the end of last season. Yesterday he picked a man off first and got two out on long fly balls. The intrasquad set-to was called after the first inning because of a storm.

Yanks To Eye Rooks

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Manager Casey Stengel today nominated six rookie pitchers, including four from last year's strong Denver American Assn. club, to work in the New York Yankees' first intrasquad game tomorrow.

Tapped by Stengel were Ralph Terry, Jack Urban, Jim DePalo and Mark Freeman, all up from Denver, Al Cicotte from Richmond of the International League and Jim O'Reilly from Birmingham of the Southern Assn.

Neal To Get Crack

VERO BEACH, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Manager Walter Alston indicated today Charley Neal again would be given first crack at the Brooklyn Dodgers' second base job this spring.

"We're going to give him another shot at it," said Alston. "We know he can do the job if he can gain confidence. Maybe the first year jitters bothered him."

Neal was in the opening day lineup at second base in 1956 but was replaced by Junior Gilliam in May. Charley wound up with a .287 batting average in 62 games.

Coan To Retire

LAKELAND, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Holdout Gil Coan, 32, has decided not to report to the Detroit Tigers and will ask Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick to place him on the voluntary retired list.

The Tigers say they will appeal because they believe Coan knew at the end of last season that he would not play baseball this year. Detroit drafted Coan from the Minneapolis club of the American Assn. this winter.

Coan has asked for a $15,000 salary.

Kinder Ends Holdout

TAMPA, Fla., March 5 (AP) — Righthander Ellis Kinder, 42, today ended his holdout with the Chicago White Sox.

Kinder, who had a 3-1 mark for the Sox last year, agreed to terms in a long distance telephone talk with Vice President Chuck Comiskey in Arizona.

Piersall Unsigned

SARASOTA, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Centerfielder Jimmy Piersall checked into the Boston Red Sox training camp today, but continued his holdout role after conferring with General Manager Joe Cronin.

Cronin admitted he didn't get very far in his contract talks with his ace flychaser. Piersall reportedly is seeking $25,000, some $7,500 more than the best Boston offer.

Heavy rains again made Payne Field unplayable but players exercised on the sidelines.

No Catcher Deal

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 5 (AP)—The New York Giants have practically given up hope of making a deal for a catcher, club owner Horace Stoneham revealed today.

"There isn't much around and the other clubs are asking much too much for what they're offering," Stoneham said.

The Giants lost their first string catcher when Bill Sarni suffered a heart attack last week.

Full-Fledged Cubs

MESA, Ariz., March 5 (AP) — Pitchers Bob Anderson and Dick Drott today became full fledged Chicago Cubs.

Cubs Vice President John Holland said the youngsters, who have been working out with the Cubs for the second straight spring, had been brought up from the Los Angeles roster.

Temple 10th Five In NIT; 2 Spots Open

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Temple was named today as the tenth team in the National Invitation basketball tournament, leaving two teams to be chosen for the 12-team field.

The Owls from Philadelphia compiled an 18-7 won-lost season's record. They competed in the holiday festival tournament at Madison Square Garden earlier this season and finished fourth.

This will mark Temple's second appearance in the NIT. The Owls won the first NIT in 1938 and Don Shields of Temple also was named the most valuable player of the tournament.

3rd in NCAA

Last season Temple competed in the NCAA championships and finished third.

Other teams already selected for the 20th renewal of the NIT March 16-23 include Seattle, Memphis State, Xavier of Ohio, Cincinnati, Dayton, St. Bonaventure, Seton Hall, Manhattan and St. Peter's of New Jersey.

The remaining two places are expected to be filled in a day or and Duquesne are among those under consideration.

Allentown Downs Nazareth, 75-57

BETHLEHEM — Nazareth High threw a big scare into Allentown High's PIAA Tournament hopes here last night, before the Canaries stepped out to grab a 75-57 decision over the Blue Eagles.

The inspired Eagles were in the ball game for three quarters and actually only two points away — 48-46—when the Canaries opened up the spread for good. Allentown led at halftime, 36-29.

Bobby Heffner, Allentown's all-stater, broke the school's individual scoring record with a 29-point outburst against the Eagles. He now has 580 markers for the season.

Allentown, by winning, moved in the District 11 finals, meeting either Palmerton, Tamaqua, St. Clair or Skuylkill Haven in Hershey, March 4.

Reedmen Seek 10th Triumph In 'Hill' Tilt

JIM REED'S East Stroudsburg Teachers will face one of the "hottest" fives in Eastern collegiate circles today when the Warriors host Kings College in the "Hill" gym. Game time is 8:30 p.m. and will be preceded by a preliminary starting at 7 o'clock.

Led by Joe Wallace, the greatest scorer in the school's history, Kings will roar into ESSTC with a 16-3 record and a one-time 14-game winning streak.

The Reedman, hoping to end the season above the .500 mark, will be out after its 10th triumph in 18 starts.

Joe Wallace

Earlier in the year, Kings tripped the Warriors in the Baron City.

Reed will probably go with a five that has been his most consistent array since way back in December when the Warriors chalked off four straight victories.

Probable Starters

In the lineup will be Dave (Kelly) McLaughlin, Charley German, Charley Galombos, Dewey Trautman and Stevie Oliveri. Also available are Karl Weigner, Howie Case, Jack Burke, Charlie Stauffer, Tom Spillane, and Mike Sentelik.

The Warriors will wind up their court campaign Saturday, entertaining Wilkes College in the STC gym.

North Carolina basketball coach Frank McGuire could play a team that averages 6-foot-8.

AP-Poll Leading Tarheels Go After 3 Major Objectives

By The Associated Press

THE NORTH CAROLINA Tarheels will have three major objectives in the Atlantic Coast Conference championship basketball tournament which gets under way Thursday in Raleigh, N. C.

They are not necessarily in order of importance:

1. To gain an NCAA berth by winning the tourney.

2. To continue an unbeaten season in which they've won 24 games.

3. To remain on top in the Associated Press' weekly poll of sportswriters and sportscasters.

The Tarheels got a huge vote of confidence from the nation's experts in the season's next-to-last poll based on games through last Saturday.

Jayhawks 2nd

Collecting 55 first place votes and 711 points, they held a comfortable margin over the runnerup Kansas Jayhawks, who got only eight firsts and 605 points on the usual basis of 10 points for first place, 9 for second etc. The Tarheels meet Clemson in a first round game of the ACC title competition Thursday night.

The next three positions remain unchanged with Kentucky in third place with 476 points, Southern Methodist fourth with 399 and Seattle fifth with 331. Seattle, 22-2 for the year, drew down five votes for first place from among the 76 who participated in the poll.

Big Advances

The most notable advances were made by Michigan State and Oklahoma City with the Spartans, unranked last week, moving into the No. 8 position, and OCU jumping eight notches to 10th place. These two replaced Bradley, which fell to 13th, and Indiana, loser last week to Michigan and Michigan State. The Hoosiers are unranked this week.

Louisville moved up two places to sixth on the strength of victories over Depaul and Toledo, UCLA, which lost twice, fell one place to seventh. Vanderbilt remained in the No. 9 spot.

West Virginia heads the second ten followed by St. Louis, Bradley, California, Idaho State, Oklahoma A&M, Iowa State, Mississippi State, Memphis State and Wake Forest.

Philadelphia Mayor Asked To Apologize

PHILADELPHIA March 5 (AP)—Congroller Foster A. Dunlap today asked the mayor of Philadelphia to apologize to State Sen. Propert (R—Montgomery) for issuance of a body warrant charging Propert falsely with failing to pay a traffic fine.

In a letter to Mayor Richardson Dilworth, Dunlap asked that "all persons involved" in issuing the warrant be disciplined.

Dunlap charged previously that some fines levied by the traffic court had been paid but no records of the payments could be found. He said the Propert incident "is not an isolated case but it is simply more of the same."

Entertainment

Propert said he paid a $5 fine a week after being charged with driving through a traffic light here March 9, 1956. After paying the fine, Propert said, he received a summons calling for payment of a $10 fine and costs by April 4. Subsequently, Propert was notified a warrant for his arrest would be issued unless he paid by May 23.

Propert said he heard nothing more on the matter until late last month when Police Chief Russell Fletcher of Lower Moreland Twp. told him that a warrant issued by the Philadelphia traffic court had been mailed to him.

Fletcher mailed the warrant back after Propert, head of the Senate Banking Committee, told him he had a receipt for the original fine.

Dunlap asserted the incident taught him that "when dealing with the city, you need to keep your receipts because their accounting methods apparently leave much to be desired."

Gold Coast Prime Minister Sees One Dream Come True

ACCRA, Gold Coast, March 5 (AP)—Kwame Nkrumah's dream of independence for the Gold Coast has come true. Now he dreams of a United States of West Africa.

The U. S.-educated African becomes prime minister tomorrow of the newest nation, Ghana, first Negro member of the British Commonwealth.

This 48-year-old bachelor has seen little but struggle since birth.

A member of the Twi tribe, he was born in a mud-hut village. He got his early education in Roman Catholic mission schools.

Nkrumah was determined to get a college education. He worked as a ship's steward to help pay his way through Pennsylvania's Lincoln University, a Negro school. He was graduated in 1939.

Schooling

Nkrumah also studied at the London School of Economics. On his return to the Gold Coast he began to materialize his dream of independence.

The British jailed him for agitation. But that did not subdue him. Four years ago he became prime minister of the Gold Coast when it was made a self-governing colony.

The British held out the promise of independence if Nkrumah's party could get a firm majority in the colonial Legislature.

Last summer, after a campaign as hot as the climate, after opponets charged his government with corruption, after Nkrumah had stumped the coastal plains and inland hills, there was an election.

Nkrumah's party won 71 of the 104 seats, and the British kept their promise.

Nkrumah parts with his British overlords on amiable terms.

The nation Nkrumah will govern has a population of four million and is about the size of the state of Minnesota. It is one of the richest lands of Western Africa.

The soil and climate are congenial to the cultivation of the cocoa bean, producing 30 per cent of the world's supply.

Money comes in from other exports of palm oil, copra, coffee and rubber. Cotton is being introduced.

European traders gave the country the name Gold Coast when they came looking for gold, slaves and ivory in the 15th and 16th Centuries. Nkrumah and his followers reached far back into Africa history for the new name. Ghana was the name of a rich West African kingdom between the 6th and 10th Centuries.

Food Should Be At Top Of Budget

furnish 60 per cent of your family's daily protein allowance. Compare this with getting an equivalent amount of complete protein from other sources. Your savings can be as high as $400 a year for a family of four.

Dry skim milk can help build strong and healthy bodies in childhood and adolescence. In adult life, it will help maintain and sustain you. In old age, it can help you find the balanced level of nourishment that can ward off the illnesses associated with increased years.

Is there a real need for dried skim milk? With more than half of the American people losing their youth before they are forty, I should say there is.

There is also a need in the protein-deficient American diets for millet seed, one of man's oldest foods, which contains a very high percentage of biologically complete protein. It also contains some fat and lecithin, is quite rich in minerals, and especially rich in vitamins A and B1. It can be cooked as a cereal, and is quite delicious. Millet seed is generally available at health food stores.

"Kind To Your Budget"

Another high-protein yet be-kind-to-your-budget food is cottage cheese. Other cheeses will add complete proteins in a variety of ways—from appetizers to dessert.

A high-protein diet maintains the blood sugar at a steady level. Its very satisfying properties add to its saving. It is much cheaper to provide a nutritious dinner with proteins than to find the family raiding the icebox a few hours after a skimpy, poorly nourishing meal. By using proteins liberally you can stop that between-meals hunger.

Good nutrition is not a matter of income. Rather, it's a matter of selection. Proper foods actually cost less than any of those that are woefully lacking in nourishment.

Only with protein can you grow, can your muscles develop, can you manufacture good red blood, can you resist infections, can you have healthy children, and can you keep from growing old while you are still young.

Two Former Truman Aides Draw Terms

ST. LOUIS, March 5 (AP)—Two former officials in the Truman administration, convicted last summer of conspiring to fix a federal income tax case, were sentenced today to two years in prison and fined $2,500 each.

Both Matthew J. Connelly, 49, presidential appointments secretary under Truman, and T. Lamar Caudle, 52, former head of the Justice Department's tax division, made statements to the court before they were sentenced.

U. S. Dist. Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye let both remain at liberty under $5,000 bonds pending appeal of the case.

Judge Nordbye denied a motion for a new trial, field late yesterday on the contention the late Judge Rubey M. Hulen was not in "proper mental or physical condition" to hear their trial.

Dead

Judge Hulen was found fatally wounded in the backyard of his home in a St. Louis suburb three weeks after the trial ended last June 14. A revolver lay nearby. A coroner's jury was unable to determine whether Judge Hulen killed himself accidentally or deliberately.

Judge Nordbye, of Minneapolis, assigned to the case after Judge Hulen's death, said he was satisfied that the trial evidence was sufficient for conviction.

AND SOME OF THE PEOPLE ALL THE TIME
Abe Lincoln worried about people being fooled. Today many people are being fooled by bait advertising offering fabulous deals on automobiles. Most people find by investigation that many of these ads are just not what they appear to be. Don't be misled by trick ads or carried away by fancy pencil work. Have the actual cost—including financing costs—figured out for you. One sure way to make an honest deal is to stop at Tucker Chevrolet. Wise Monroe Countians have been doing it for 34 years.

Farmers With 'Old Acreage' Eligible For Corn Program

ALL FARMERS in Monroe County whose farms have "old farm" acreage allotments for corn are eligible to participate in the 1957 Soil Bank Acreage Reserve Program. And the sign-up, according to David Griffith, Chairman of the Monroe Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, will continue through this Friday.

To be eligible for payments, Chairman Griffith explained, the farmer must comply with any acreage allotment established for his farm. The allotment crop grown in Monroe County in addition to corn is wheat.

Signatures

The corn growers should also have in mind that the agreement must be signed by each person who, as owner or landloard, (1) has control of the land on which the Acreage Reserve will be located, or (2) has control of the land on which the acreage of corn is to be reduced, or (3) is eligible to receive any compensation under the Acreage Reserve agreement.

Land put in the Acreage Reserve is described and specifically designated for the Reserve in the agreement signed by farmers.

Chairman Griffith cautions that land placed in the Acreage Reserve is not to be harvested and may not be grazed unless the land is in a "disaster" designated area where emergency grazing has been specifically authorized by the Secretary of Agriculture. In the latter case only livestock owned by the operator may graze on the Acreage Reserve land. Violation of this provision subjects the farmer to loss of payment and a civil penalty equal to half the payment which would have been made.

At the present time 100 farmers have signed agreements to participate in the wheat and corn acreage reserve.

Yosko Seeks Later Hunting

HARRISBURG, March 5 (AP) — The Senate was asked to seek postponement of the opening of Pennsylvania's small game season from Oct. 26 to Nov. 15.

Sen. Yosko (D-Northampton) introduced a resolution asking that the date be put back by the state Game Commission "in the best interest of farmers and hunters alike."

Damage

"A hunting season this early in the fall can cause immeasurable damage to farmers' crops which are still in the fields and many farmers have threatened to close their land to all hunters unless the hunting of small game is postponed," the resolution stated.

The commission has tentatively set Oct. 19 for opening of the season on grouse, turkeys and squirrel. All other small game would be legal prey Oct. 26 under the tentative schedule.

The resolution was sent to committee for further study.
